

Sheffield Haworth announces acquisition of Gillamor Stephens to further strengthen its coverage of the global Technology sector.

Sheffield Haworth, the leading global Executive Search, Consulting Solutions and Talent Advisory firm announced today that it has acquired Gillamor Stephens, a leading Executive Search firm addressing the Digital and Technology sectors. Their work focuses on hiring Board level executives for both publicly listed and venture capital/private equity backed Technology businesses in the UK and across Europe.

“We are delighted to welcome the Gillamor Stephens team to Sheffield Haworth and excited by the opportunity to bring our collective capabilities to clients in the Digital and Technology sector. The acquisition forms part of a wider strategy of creating a global firm supporting clients in the Financial Services, Business & Professional Services, and Technology sectors” said Tim Sheffield, Chairman, Sheffield Haworth.

“Gillamor Stephens are delighted to become part of Sheffield Haworth. The backing and international reach of the company will enable us to accelerate our expansion plans and also broaden the range of Executive Search and Talent Advisory services we can deliver to our clients” said Steve Morrison, Joint Managing Director of Gillamor Stephens.

“In addition, it will further enhance our ability to address high growth areas of our industry such as FinTech. We are very excited as we enter this new era for Gillamor Stephens” said Paul Gillespie, Joint Managing Director of Gillamor Stephens.

As part of the acquisition, Gillamor Stephens will become Sheffield Haworth’s newly created global Digital & Technology practice and will continue to trade under the Gillamor Stephens brand.
